Mobile Ala April 11—Thousands of persons have been killed and whole Indian villages swept away by the eruption of Chiriqui peak near Bocas del Toro in Panama according to the stories of Captain Olsik of the fruit steamer Metapan which arrived here Wednesday

Captain Olsik says the eruption occurred April 6 in the morning while the Metapan was berthed near Bocas del Toro and that he witnessed flames rising from the peak

Reports of the loss of life and casualty list were brought from the immediate scene to Bocas del Toro by refugees who escaped the doomed city as he watched it until he put to sea on the gulf Captain Olsik says

Evidence of disturbed elements is seen in many places and the air is filled with smoke and dust

Captain Olsik says the inhabitants of Bocas del Toro panic stricken believing that the place might be overrun with lava or that it was belching forth from the peak

The Captain's Story

Chiriqui peak it is said is known never has shown any volcanic activity and the sudden eruption from the peak took the inhabitants by surprise

I learned before leaving that the third of a row of mountain peaks situated about 1 1 miles from us had burst into flame and turned into a volcano said Captain Olsik He took that the active crater was the highest of the peaks its height being estimated at 0 feet above sea level

At the base of the mountain and on the steps were a number of Indian villages It is supposed here that these villages have all been destroyed by the lava

When we got into the open sea great rocks were sticking out of the water in places where before we had navigated the vessel Small islands could be seen all around the shore I can't say how high the flames burst from the mountain It seemed that the flames were bursting from the side

Captain Olsik is well known in gulf and Caribbean port having sailed in those waters many years

HOME RULE BILL IS INTRODUCED

Third Time Presented to Parliament in Years.

ATTENDED BY SCENES OF GREAT INTEREST

John Redmond Explains Bill's Provisions.

Suffragettes Are Barred from House of Commons During Introduction and Debate on the Measure—The Hardest Fight in Quarter of Century Is Expected—The Nationalist Party Is Out in Force

London April 11—For the third time in a quarter of a century and for the first time that possibility of passage has attended it the government of Great Britain today introduced in parliament a home rule bill granting autonomy to Ireland The bill was introduced by Premier Asquith and its introduction was attended by scenes of greatest interest

Before parliament convened the members of the Irish Nationalist party met and John Redmond leader of the party explained the main provisions of the measure The leaders agreed with Mr Redmond that the bill was satisfactory in detail

In anticipation of exciting scenes in the house of commons every seat in the galleries was filled before the hour of convening

The assemblage of spectators was a brilliant one many foreign diplomats being present The somber background of the upper galleries was enlivened by the brilliant costumes of women many of whom had waited for hours to get into the parliament building The authorities exercised the greatest precaution to keep out suffragettes fearing that the proceedings at this momentous hour might be interrupted by a votes for women demonstration Every seat on the opposition's side was occupied before 11 o'clock as the word had been given out that the anti government forces would make the hardest fight in modern years to kill the measure It was conceded on every side that each step of the bill would be marked by the most bitter debate

Warm Debate Expected

According to the program Sir Edward Carson leader of the Unionists in Ulster province was to follow Premier Asquith in debate So intense is the feeling of Sir Edward against the measure and so keen is the hostility of his followers in Ireland that it was expected he would share the leadership of the opposition in this instance with A Bonar Law the nominal leader of the opposition in commons Mr Law will be the first speaker on the opposition side his position giving to him the honor of being the summing up speaker He will probably speak Tuesday

John Redmond will lead off for the Irish Nationalists and will be followed by Ramsay MacDonald leader of the Laborites

It is understood that Augustine Birrell secretary of state for Ireland will wind up for the government before there is a division Just before ceremonies opened a huge number of supporters of the bill from Ireland among whom were many bishops arrived Notables in the centre and side galleries reserved seats in the distinguished strangers' gallery

With the exception of two members who are now in Ireland the Nationalist party was present in force

Prolonged Cheers

When Premier Asquith and Mr Redmond entered the chamber there were prolonged cheers The introduction of the bill was accompanied by a speech from the premier in which he set forth the benefits which would accrue from home rule Mr Asquith's speech was interrupted before the full text was read by the entrance of opposition leader Law The Unionists rose in their seats and cheered so loudly that the premier had to cease until the speaker restored order

We can not admit the right of a small minority in Ulster to veto the verdict of a vast body of people declared the premier Home rule can no longer be represented as a concession to violence

Bigger Program

That a new and bigger program than has ever before been attempted by the British government is under contemplation was revealed when the premier said

Irish home rule is the first step only in a larger and more comprehensive scheme of evolution in the United kingdom and the empire but Irelands claim for attention comes first and must be dealt with

RENOMINATION OF TAFT URGED

New York State Convention Is Epoch-Making.

SENATOR ELIHU ROOT UPHOLDS PLATFORM

Policies of Republican Party Commended.

Other Prominent New Yorkers Make Addresses, Wadsworth Lauding and Endorsing Root's Views, While Controller Prendergast, of New York, Declares He Is Not in Convention for Harmony.

Convention Hall, Rochester, N. Y., April 10.—The Republican state convention today by unanimous vote adopted the platform framed by the committee on resolutions. It then elected four delegates-at-large to the Chicago convention and adjourned at 1:40 p. m.

Epoch-Making Convention.

Convention Hall, Rochester, N. Y., April 10.—Job Hedges, of New York, opened the final session of the Republican state convention today with a speech upholding the platform declarations adopted last night in which the renomination of President Taft is urged upon the four delegates-at-large from the Empire state to the national convention at Chicago.

"This convention," said Mr. Hedges, "is epoch-making, and is blazing the way through the forest of national life, choked with a second growth of pernicious and un-American doctrines."

Hedges declared that the government not alone "expresses the will of the majority, but protects the rights of the minority." The nation, he said, was never more prosperous than at present, the laborer having as luxuries what were denied to the father of his country as necessities. He welcomed free and full discussion of all the so-called progressive principles.

Have Right To Decide.

"The people have the right to and will decide," he said, "just what they most desire."

The platform under consideration, Hedges said, was progressive and [illegible] with the best trend of advanced ideas.

"Shall the people rule?" he demanded. "I answer, yes. Have the people ruled? I reply that they have because the government still exists. Will the people rule? I leave that to the people themselves."

The big hit made by Hedges was his characterization of a Democrat as "a man who only knows what isn't who has the constitutional right to be unhappy."

"Have we got to convert the West to our ideas," he said, "yes, I guess we have. We told them once that silver was gold and proved it and I guess we are going to teach them something else equally as big."

Butler Is Favored.

Rochester, N. Y., April 10.—When the Republican state convention was called to order this morning, the committee on permanent organization reported in favor of Professor Butler as permanent chairman and a long list of vice chairmen, which was adopted. Lafayette B. Gleason, secretary of the state committee, was named as secretary of the convention, and a long list of vice secretaries also was named.

State Chairman Barnes then reported as chairman of the committee on resolutions, submitting the report of the committee. The greatest burst of applause that shook the hall had come when Chairman Barnes, in reading the platform, mentioned the name of William Howard Taft. Cheer after cheer followed.

Senator Elihu Root then took the platform to lead the discussion on the platform. He seconded the resolutions reported by Chairman Barnes, saying:

"I shall confine myself to discussing the attempts to strangle the importance and hamper the judicial departments of our government.

"The question of whether or not our courts shall be subject to the will of a majority, fickle as it may be, can never be enacted into law without entailing the degradation of the people who so enact.

"The origin and life of the Republican party is a protest against that majority in the South that enslaved millions of black men," declared Senator Root. "The Republican party is and always must be a protest against the rule of the majority when that majority seeks to subvert the principles of justice.

"The principles which it is attempted to force on this great republic are little different from those which have converted the fair land of Mexico into a writhing, seething [illegible] of anarchy.

"On the independence and integrity of our judges depends the [illegible] of our free institutions. Take the fear of the recall from the head of a judge, you make [illegible] of him. It would be the rule of cowardice instead of the rule of courage.

"Anarchy or despotism," declared Senator Root, "must be the inevitable end of hanging the fear of the recall over the heads of the judiciary. The other pathway is the glorious road which is pointed out to us in our constitution. It offers the magnificence of liberty preserved with order and justice."

Former Speaker of the Assembly James W. Wadsworth, who followed Senator Root, bitterly opposed the recall of judges, which he characterized as "sapping the judiciary of its courage and independence."

Wadsworth then discussed the initiative and referendum, saying that here in New York there was no necessity for such legislation. The people had the power, by selecting their legislature, he said, to determine just what laws they wanted. He reviewed the operation of the initiative and referendum in the states of South Dakota, Oregon and Oklahoma, saying that actual operation had proven that it was an unwarranted expense on the commonwealths because of the number of minor proposed laws forced on the people for discussion.

Adopted by Convention.

Convention Hall, Rochester, N. Y., The Empire State Republican convention today unanimously adopted the platform adopted by the committee last night, which in part says:

"We believe that order is the prerequisite of progress and that this national tradition must not be destroyed nor principles sacrificed to opportunism.

"We believe that public conventions' science should express itself properly and affirmatively in the election of public officials and not negatively in the recall. To reverse this order would encourage disregard of duty in electing public officers and place a premium on neglect of that duty.

Believe in Protection.

"We believe in the Republican principle of protection to American working men, American industries and the American farmer. Customs duties should be adjusted so as to cover the difference between the cost of production in this and in other couuntries and such adjustments should be made by congress upon facts ascertained by an impartial board, with authority to make a thorough investigation. We condemn the action of the Democratic party in the house of representatives which long professed to favor a tariff commission to ascertain the facts upon which customs might be based and which immediately after obtaining power repudiated their former professions and proceeded to pass tariff bills without regard to the facts reported and without inquiring into or caring for the needs of American business or American labor.

"We believe in the amendment of the national banking law and the creation of a national reserve association, together with a provision for an elastic system of currency and credit, properly safeguarded and free from domination of any sectional or special financial influence.

Recall Is Opposed.

"We oppose as subversive to our form of government, the initiative, the compulsory legislative referendum and the recall, either of public servants or judicial decisions, or any device which impairs consistency and continuity in the expression of popular will.

"We oppose the recall of judges or any system which will introduce cowardice as an element in the administration of justice. The authority of the judiciary should not be impaired. If respect for the courts were broken down, the constitutional protection of the liberties of the individual would be destroyed.

"We urge the delegates-at-large from New York and the delegates from the congressional districts to contend at the Republican national convention for the adoption of the principles herein endorsed and the repudiation of the principles herein opposed.

"We applaud the patriotism, wisdom and undramatic courage of President William H. Taft. The overwhelming majority of the representatives of the party in this convention assembled favor his renomination and we urge that the delegates-at-large here elected in their action at Chicago carry out this choice of the Republican of the state and that the district delegates unite to the same end."

Taft Gets Nineteen.

Louisville, Ky., April 10.—The district conventions held by Kentucky Republicans give Taft nineteen delegates to Chicago and Roosevelt three, with four Taft delegates and two Roosevelt delegates contested. Four delegates from the state-at-large will be named by the state convention which convened at noon today.

ROOSEVELT AND CLARK WINNERS

Sweep Illinois Primaries Like Cyclone.

SENATOR LA FOLLETTE BRINGS UP THE REAR

Aged Senator Cullom Is To Be Shelved.

Governor Deneen Is Endorsed for Third Term on Anti-Lorimer Platform—Edward F. Dunne Gets the Democratic Gubernatorial Endorsement—Illinois Result Is No Surprise to President.

Chicago, April 10.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt swept Illinois, smothering President Taft under a plurality of 115,000; Champ Clark overwhelmed Governor Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey, for the presidential nomination by a vote of nearly three to one, and Senator Shelby M. Cullom, ranking member of the upper house of congress, was sent to join the retired Republican leaders, according to returns today from the primaries in Illinois. Although the figures have not yet been completed, President Taft secured only two of the state's fifty-eight delegates, while the colonel is sure of fifty-two and late returns from the two districts still doubtful indicate that he led there. Every delegate sent to the Democratic convention at Baltimore will wear the Clark stamp, not a single Wilson man having been elected.

Taft's solitary congressional district victory came in the Fifth, the home of Senator William Lorimer, former congressman and dictator of the community for years. The victory was a Lorimer affair. Lorimer, stung by the taunts of the former president, worked like a Trojan for the administration and succeeded in winning for Taft by 900 votes.

One other Chicago district was in doubt this morning, the Eighth, now represented by Thomas Gallagher, a Democrat. The Twenty-Fifth district, in southern Illinois, has not yet been completely canvassed, but the indications are that Roosevelt is in the lead. The colonel carried the Nineteenth district represented by William McKinley, President Taft's campaign manager and where Roosevelt spent part of three days in his recent swing around the state. He also carried the Eighteenth, "Uncle" Joe Cannon's home.

Total Estimated Vote.

Roosevelt's total estimated vote is 233,000; Taft's 118,000. Roosevelt carried Chicago by 25,000.

Champ Clark's sweep of the state was even cleaner than Roosevelt's. With a total vote almost as large as that of the colonel, Clark left Wilson hopelessly snowed under. The total vote for the Missourian was estimated from returns from practically every part of the state at 221,000. Wilson received 79,500. Clark was strong in the city of Chicago, where a heavy vote was polled. His vote in the city of Chicago totalled 125,000 while Wilson was left with only 37,500. In the downstate districts where Wilson has just completed a tour of the state in the interest of his candidacy, the speaker was easily the winner, showing strength throughout the state. Wilson carried St. Clair county which includes East St. Louis. He also won in Winnebago county by a small plurality. In every other county, Clark was the victor. He carried Sangamon county—including Springfield, the state capital—by 400. The Wilson men made a special effort to win there. Clark carried practically every precinct in Chicago by an average vote of four to one over the New Jersey man.

Senator Robert M. LaFollette, of Wisconsin, who was also a contender for the Republican national delegates secured a total vote approximating 37,000. Fully half of this vote was cast in Chicago, where the La Follette headquarters are located and where considerable work was done for the Wisconsin man during the past few days.

Sherman a Winner.

Lawrence Y. Sherman was the leader of the Republicans in the race for the senatorial recommendation. His plurality was 60,000 in the state; 10,000 in Cook county. Two other contenders for the office were in the field. Cullom in some places running a bad second. The fact that Cullom is an old man, that he has served twenty-nine years in the senate and the bitterness engendered from the Lorimer fight in the senate when Cullom voted to sustain his colleague, all militated against him. Sherman has a substantial lead in practically all parts of the state.

James Hamilton Lewis, unopposed was the Democratic candidate for senatorial recommendation.

Goverenor Deneen was renominated by the Republicans. He received 139,000 against 60,600 given Len Small, the candidate of the Lorimer faction. There were eight candidates in the field.

Edward F. Dunne, former mayor of Chicago, captured the Democratic gubernatorial nomination with a total of 135,000, over 89,000 for Samuel Alschuler, with four candidates in the field. Dunne polled 110,000 votes in Chicago.

Suffrage Defeated.

As a side issue of the fight, woman suffrage was given a slap in Chicago. The question was put on the ballots in Cook county only as a test vote. It was defeated 60,000 to 30,000.

B. M. Chipperfield and William E. Mason, former United States senators, received the Republican nomination for congressmen-at-large, while Lawrence B. Stringer and Henry Hogan received the same office at the hands of the Democrats. The incumbents of the congressional districts were renominated except in the Sixth, represented by Edmund Stack, Democrat, where James M. McAndrews was nominated by the Democratis, He will be opposed by Carl T. Murray, Republican. In the Fourteenth, represented by James McKinney, Republican, Lawrence M. McGill received the G. O. P. nomination. Clyde H. Tavener was nominated by the Democrats.

Result No Surprise.

Washington, April 10.—The result of the primaries in Illinois made a profound impression in Washington. President Taft's friends were prepared to hear that Colonel Roosevelt had carried Illinois, but they were hardly expecting such an overwhelming majority adverse to the president. Colonel Roosevelt, with that cleverness in politics which has characterized him, promptly saw the value of the Lorimer issue and put it forward in Illinois on his recent speechmaking tour. As the situation is understood here in Washington, the Lorimer issue was paramount in the campaign.

The effect of the Illinois primary on Mr. Taft's chances will be but temporary and local. Much will depend, of course, on the result of the New York state convention today.

Wilson Is Silent.

Buffalo, N. Y., April 10.—Before leaving Buffalo this morning, Governor Wilson, who delivered an address here last evening, had nothing to say regarding the result in Illinois.

"I favor presidential primaries. The people are entitled to their choice," Wilson declared.

Dahlman Renominated.

Omaha, Neb., April 10.—James C. Dahlman, the "Cowboy Mayor," of Omaha, now serving his third term, was renominated at yesterday's primaries, according to returns today. The primary was non-partisan and the first held since the commission form of government was established here.

Campaign of Misrepresentation.

Columbus, April 10.—Commenting upon the result of the Illinois primary, Chairman L. C. Laylin, of the Ohio Republican executive committee, today gave out this statement:

"The result of the Illinois primary has been in doubt because of local conditions which overshadowed the issues between the president and Colonel Roosevelt. A campaign of prejudice and misrepresentation had been conducted for weeks, based upon local conditions in that state. Colonel Roosevelt's campaign was a personal appeal to the passions and prejudices of the people. The time between the passage of the primary law and the holding of the election did not give the friends of the president opportunity to make clear the real issues involved in the contest.

"This kind of a campaign can not win in Ohio. Here the issues are clearly defined and the Republicans of the state will stand by the president and send a solid delegation to the national convention pledged to his renomination. With renewed courage and vigor, his friends and supporters will rally to his standard and loyally support his cause until his triumphant renomination in Chicago."

THE COLONEL IN PILATE'S CLASS

Roosevelt Is Likened Unto the Spineless Roman,

WHO ORDERS DEATH OF THE NAZARENE

Solely Because of the Popular Clamor of People.

Senator Jones, of Washington, in a Remarkable Address, Applies the Same Principle That Actuates Pilate to Motives of the Ex-President in Condemning Others. Shows Where Roosevelt Stands.

Washington, April 10.—"And Pilate gave sentence that it should be as they required," was the theme of a remarkable address made before the senate today by Senator Jones, of Washington, in which he likened Theodore Roosevelt unto the spineless Roman, who ordered the crucifixion of Christ because of the popular clamor for the Nazarene's death; applied the same principle which actuated Pilate to the motives of the colonel in condemning Senator Lorimer and arraigned the former president's suggestion for a judicial recall.

Once during the speech, Jones likened Roosevelt unto the Duke of Richmond, saying:

"A new Richmond has rushed upon the political scene, thrown his 'hat into the ring,' and shouted to the wavering hosts to follow him in the highways of progress and victory."

Playing the Game.

At the beginning of his address, the senator declared that the senate is no place for politics, but added:

"He plays politics best, who serves the people best, and we are engaged in a saturnalia of political vituperation."

After rebuking the colonel for having forgotten, in the stress of his race for place and power, the honors which his party bestowed upon him, Senator Jones served notice that he deeply resented the remarks of Colonel Roosevelt in his Detroit speech of March 30, wherein Roosevelt condemned the action of the senate committee in the case of Lorimer.

The Lorimer Matter.

Jones argued that the Lorimer case is not a legislative matter, but is a decision that must rest with the consciences of he senate sitting in judgment, and that Roosevelt's statement that, although Senator Dillingham voted to allow Lorimer to retain his seat, if the matter were put to a vote in the state of Vermont, the people would be found against Lorimer, was a most dangerous policy.

"Roosevelt says in effect," said Senator Jones, "'you have read the testimony; you have weighed the evidence. Your judgment and conscience tell you to find that this seat was not secured by corruption, but the people who elected you believe otherwise, and you should therefore violate conscience and condemn Lorimer.'

Shocking Suggestion.

"This was the rule of action followed by Pilate nearly 1,900 years ago. If Mr. Roosevelt made this suggestion seriously, it is shocking. If he made it ignorantly, it is pitiable. If he made it to secure votes, it is despicable. A few weeks ago the former president was called as a juror, but was always excused from service. I wondered myself why he was not allowed to serve; I understand now. If such a rule as Roosevelt lays down is to be followed, the blindfolded figures of Justice, with scales evenly balanced, should be cut from our courts, and their place should be raised a naked figure with a rope about the neck of the trembling victim. This is the ultimate object of this monstrous doctrine.

"The statement of Roosevelt is an insult to the minority members of the Lorimer committee. In my judgment, no new facts have been brought out that militate against Mr. Lorimer, and the old case against him has been overturned and destroyed."

MANY DEAD IN NILE DISASTER

Steamers Collide Near City of Kalyub.

FROM 150 TO 200 PERSONS DROWNED

Small Craft Are Picking Up Survivors.

Crash of Two Vessels Is Heard on Shore and Rescue Parties Rush to Scene of Catastrophe — Many Women Are Among Passengers on One of Steamers—Officers and Crews Do Heroic Work.

Cairo, Egypt, April 9.—The worst Nile disaster of a century occurred today when two steamers collided fifteen miles northwest of this city near Kalyub and from 150 to 200 persons were drowned

One vessel was a tram service ferry while the other was carrying tourists to see the great dam. The tram service ship was capsized and every person on board hurled into the water. The excursion boat was less seriously damaged.

The crash of the two boats was plainly heard on shore and immediately after the collision small craft put out to pick up survivors. Boats were lowered from the excursion ship to aid in the work of rescue.

Many Women Aboard.

On board the tram service ship were a number of women. As they were cast into the water their voices rose in terrified shrieks.

Some of them were assisted by men swimmers while others were able to cling to pieces of wreckage which floated away from the capsized vessel.

The shouts that the vessel was sinking caused a scramble for life preservers and the officers and the crew had all they could do to keep many from leaping overboard. There were about 300 persons on board the tram service vessel.

TITANIC SAILS ON FIRST TRIP

THE LINER IS OF 45,000 TONS DISPLACEMENT

And Is One of Largest Two Vessels in World.

Big Ocean Greyhound Leaves Southampton, Carrying 1,400 Passengers, and Is Expected To Make Faster Time on Voyage to New York Than the Olympic—Unique Features of New Ship.

Southampton, Eng., April 10.—Bearing 1,400 passengers, the new White Star liner, Titanic, one of the biggest two ships in the world, sailed from here for New York on her maiden voyage today.

The Titanic, which is of 45,000 tons displacement, is sister ship to the Olympic.

All of the special suites of rooms instituted as an innovation in the Titanic were occupied when the passage began. These suites consist of bedrooms, sitting-room, bathroom and servant's room and have their own private deck promenade isolated from the rest of the ship and not overlooked by any other passengers.

A New Feature.

The Titanic also possesses another new feature in its Louis XVI. restaurant. Her sister ship, the Olympic, also has this feature, but on a smaller scale. It proved so popular, however, that the White Star company decided to have the one on the Titanic greatly enlarged. Adjacent to it is a special reception room for the use of passengers taking meals in the restaurant.

The Titanic, while its engineering principal is the same as that of the Olympic, is expected by experts on navigation to make faster time than the Olympic because of a slight difference in the curvature of the propeller blades.

THREE MEN ARE BADLY INJURED

EXPLOSION OF INGOT FRIDAY EVENING

An Accident in Marion Steam Shovel Shops.

Clyde Harriman, John Schott and Charles Retterer Are Terribly, If Not Fatally Burned—Dampness of Ground Believed the Cause of Accident—Badly Injured Taken to Hospital Quickly.

Seven men were injured, three of them very seriously if not fatally at the plant of the Marion Steam Shovel company, about 8 o'clock, Friday evening, when 2,000 pounds of molten metal exploded in a big ingot and was thrown in all directions.

Clyde Harriman, residing at the corner of east Church and Summit streets; John Schott, of No. 419 Blaine avenue, and Charles Retterer, residing at No. 910 Davids street, are at the Marion City hospital in a critical condition as a result of burns. The others injured are Benjamin J. Anthony, of No. 198 Blaine avenue; J. R. Walkins, of No. 642 Uncapher avenue; Henry Meyers, of Prospect street, and John Severns, residing south of the city on the C., D. & M.

The accident without doubt the most serious ever occurring at the local plant came about persumably as a result of the dampness of the ground in which the big ingots are buried. Just what really was the cause is something of a mystery to the officials of the company, but it is quite generally believed that the dampness with a possible slight accumulation of water, caused the metal to give way.

The three seriously injured employes, Harriman, Schott and Retterer, were caught by the full force of the explosion which while not so terrific was sufficient to throw a heavy coating of the molten steel about their bodies. Burns of a most serious character and causing the most excruciating pain as the metal burned the flesh to a crisp, were inflicted. Retterer is perhaps the most seriously injured of the trio. He is burned badly about the chest, arms and legs. He passed a very restless night at the hospital, and for a time it was thought that he could not survive the night.

Schott Badly Hurt.

Schott is in an almost equally serious condition. When the molten metal struck his body, his clothes were almost burned from him and he ran to an adjoining apartment where he plunged into a tank of water. But for this fact, he would doubtless have been burned to death before assistance could have been given, according to one of the men.

Harriman, while very badly burned, may recover. It is believed by the attending physicians and nurses that he will recover. While he was being given attention at the hospital Saturday, he was able to speak and appeared to be in a humorous mood. He jokingly referred to the excitement at the time of the accident.

The three unfortunate men with the aid of their fellow employes succeeded in quickly removing their clothes, which were heavy with the metal. Almost frantic with pain they were transferred to the company hospital, where Dr. J. E. Tuttle, who attends the injured at the plant regularly, gave them every attention until Drs. A. and Herman S. Rhu, the company physicians, could be summoned. The Hess & Markert ambulance and the M. H. Gunder ambulance were immediately summoned. Harriman was placed in the Gunder ambulance and the others in that of Hess & Markert ambulance, and were hurried to the hospital. Drs. Rhu and H. J. Lower together with Mrs. Clifton Lower, chief nurse at the Marion City hospital, and the other members of the corps of nurses gave the men every attention.

Benjamin J. Anthony, of Blaine avenue, who was the assistant foreman of the room, suffered very bad burns on both hands. He had a pair of heavy overalls on over his trousers, and a heavy waistcoat. This saved him from serious injury. Word was first given out that he was among the more seriously injured, and his frantic wife ran to the hospital to hear particulars. She was relieved when her husband came walking home shortly after. Aside from bad burns on both hands, his condition is not regarded serious and he will be able to resume his work before very long.

Those Slightly Burned.

J. R. Walkins, of Uncapher avenue, suffered bad burns on the calf of his leg but was able to walk after having been given the necessary attention. He will improve rapidly. Chief Electrician H. Meyers suffered burns about the hands, and he will recover rapidly it is believed. Severns was able to be out Saturday. He suffered only minor burns.

That more of the men were not taken to the hospital is due to the fact that the rooms of the place were already crowded. Only the three badly injured men were taken there.

At the time of the accident manganese steel was being made. The big twenty-ton ladel was being used, and because the stopper on the ladel leaked it was necessary to pour the metal in the ingots, as is always done in a case of this kind. These ingots, four in number, measure eighteen feet square and are six feet deep. In order to avoid the waste from the leaking stopper, the metal was poured into these. The first was filled, then another and still another and the men were going on with the work when for some reason the molten fluid in the third ingot exploded flooding the floor and catching the men who stood near. In case of water in the ingots an explosion will occur, but at the plant it is aimed to clear all water from them. Dampness of the ground resulting from the recent heavy rains and the thawing of the ground may have caused an accumulation of water and gases resulting in the explosion.

The steel exploded after an interval of from three to four minutes following the time that the ingot was filled. Because of this fact it is believed that the dampness resulted in the formation of a gas or steam, or the possible location of water immediately underneath the ingot, caused the explosion. General Superintedent Busby P. Sweeney when seen regarding the accident, Saturday stated that it was not exactly clear how the accident occured. Ingots are used in the foundries in all plants of the kind and the accident was due to an unforseen condition.

That more of the men were not injured is one of the fortunate aspects of the accident. About fifteen men were working in the immediate vicinity. John Reidenbaugh, superintendent of the shops was standing not far from the scene and William Bausinger, foreman of the foundry, was also not far away. Bausinger was very slightly burned. Some of the men including the three seriously injured had remained on duty overtime in order to handle the "heat."

One of the injured men was seen regarding the accident Saturday morning. About half of the big ladel had been poured, he said, when the explosion occurred. Harriman, Schott and Retterer crazed with pain, ran here and there calling piteously. Every possible attention was given at once.

No blame is attached to any of the employes for the explosion. The work was being done as it is customarily done. While the equipment is new, the trouble did not come about as a result of this fact. Such an accident, according to an official could have occured in almost any plant where similar methods are pursued.

Each of the trio now in the hospital is married and has a family. Schott and Retterer are middle aged while Harriman is about thirty years of age. All have been long employed by the company and are regarded as splendid workmen.

The plentiful supplies of spruce and fir along the Siberian seacoast are suggested by Eastern Engineering as a possible new source of pulp wood. Aspen can be obtained in large quantities for 9 to 11½ cents per cubic foot alongside vessels in Vladivostok.

It is now whispered that the New York republicans are urging the availability of Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of War, for the Vice Presidential nomination. President Taft has taken the attitude that it is a matter for the convention to determine and has avoided expressing any preference.

involve the presidential preference At the primaries the Republican voters will vote for a delegate to state convention county candidates two delegates to the national convention a candidate for congress and delegates to a county convention which in turn will select delegates to the hopeless judicial and senatorial conventions Real consistency would have required the judicial and senatorial delegates named at the primary then the perfunctory and lifeless county convention need not have been called But consistency has its limitations After a while the voters will think they have spent their force and so will get back to representative politics with a new interest for representative government

Meanwhile the primary is coming on It is being used by committees and local ambitions There will be delegate candidacies standing for President Taft and candidacies representing the third term ambition of Colonel Roosevelt The preference between these two will overshadow all else It matters little who are seeking to be delegates We are to have an expression of presidential preference directly voted and the voters will be informed as to what candidates can be expected for a delegateship represents The people are for the president to speak The result will be the same if President Taft is not the preference of the majority of Marion County Republicans he will not be pursued now to business as delegates to the state convention

The candidacy of Insitee Davis for renomination does not matter Any seven men in Marion County s at the convention could support Justice Davis candidacy

However the real menace is nursed by the New York state aspirant for presidential honors is that Mr Taft having been elected president cut the cable and lowers House Oyster Bay and the White House

While the Republicans may not be overly pleased with the situation there s no question but what our Democrat friends are getting a lot in the way of enjoyment out of the campaign of the wreckers wants the Republican party

Talkins about convention fraud the Taft people will have to look to themselves to pull off anything more spectacular than those in Shelby and Pulaski counties Kentucky the former counts Taft carried by 200 and the latter by 60 but the honest vell delegates were given the certificates

The distinguished candidates who are making a business out of preserving fraud doubtless labors under the impression that the public never heard of the story about the fellow who yelled Stop Thief!"

THE ILLINOIS RESULT WILL SIR TAFT'S FRIENDS

The result of the primaries in Illinois is more disappointing than surprising to the friends of President Taft They had hoped the combinations of the president would make such a showing in Illinois that the contest would be ended but it was Time was confident of success

The press of Chicago has been bitterly hostile to the president Medill Mc Cormick and trained hackers of the Roosevelt campaign in the West are Chicago men and have such important connections as that of Mc Cormick to do business on trust But the weakness of the Taft campaign came of the inability of his fellowers to harmonize or even unite on any one man while Colonel Roosevelt and his political capital to mobilize but without occasion or excuse except to gain points with the plan All these things had to happen in order to suit Moscow Chicago is the storm center of political revolution Only a day or two ago in Pittsburg a speaker declared that Moscow's revolutionary government to the contrary notwithstanding This is not what we want The people are in many instances more in favor of the Taft administration than they were two years ago We want something new We want progress in many lines

While the result is disappointing it will have one effect that will strengthen President Taft s candidacy It will put his friends and supporters wide awake and will arouse a militant determination to make the nomination a success Republicans will not indulge in factional fights when they realize that the party is threatened by the democrats Democrats will not indulge in factional fights when they realize that the party is threatened by Republican insurgents Democrats will not indulge in factional fights when they realize that the party is threatened by Republican insurgents Democrats will not indulge in factional fights when they realize that the party is threatened by Republican insurgents Democrats will not indulge in factional fights when they realize that the party is threatened by Republican insurgents Democrats will not indulge in factional fights when they realize that the party is threatened by Republican insurgents Democrats will not indulge in factional fights when they realize that the party is threatened by Republican insurgents Democrats will not indulge in factional fights when they realize that the party is threatened by Republican insurgents Democrats disregard of law and assaulted by the Democratic party and of the warfare supported by so called Progressives in accord with the third term menace to suggest a change in line with contemporaneous constitutionalists and with contemplation of a Taft administration that challenges criticism we have faith that Republicans who do Republican from principle will now rally to the support of the Taft campaign

THE COLONEL BOASTS OF A THIRD TERM FOR COLOMBIA

In his Lakeshore speech Colonel Roosevelt boldly even boasting he confessed that the charge so often made that he seized the isthmus of Panama the property of a friendly nation without color of authority is true. His excuse is that Colombia was preparing to start with the control of the Isthmus to France It this had been true it would have been presented to the government of the Monroe doctrine But it is hardly probable that the statesmen of France had long had a small session upon the subject Colombia could not have raised the necessary millions of dollars and failed to build the canal The excuse now is that many people overlooked it recognition by the president of the United States before breakfast the canal was another case of mother earth and children in labor to be sure but the child was born and the United States had to be content with the baby Colombia would even the war was on I have no doubt that Colombia would have been glad to have the canal built by the United States but it was not the United States that was to build it Colombia was to build it and the United States was to have the canal when it was built Colombia was to build it and the United States was to have the canal when it was built Colombia was to build it and the United States was to have the canal when it was built

WIDOW IS GIVEN THE BODY OF HER HUSBAND

Court Finds No Law To Prohibit the Cremation

RELATIVES BEATEN IN A LEGAL CONTENTION

The Remains of Frank B Evans Are Subject to the Wishes of His Widow—Evans Is a Brother of Mrs William Bruce of This City Dies in Cincinnati Asylum

The body of Frank B Evan formerly a well known Cincinnati painting contractor and brother of Mrs William Bruce No 391 Park Boulevard this city will be cremated in accordance with the widows wishes and contrary to the alleged religious belief of his sister after the aid of the Cincinnati courts had been invoked to this end

Evans who had several times before frequently died at the Long View insane asylum Thursday Mr Bruce went to Cincinnati Friday Her sister in law Mrs Harriet Evans had employed an undertaker to have the body cremated Friday Miss Elizabeth Evans a sister residing in the Queen City objected to her brother being cremated and notified her sister here of Mrs Evans intention

A suit was brought to enjoin the incineration of the body on the ground that it was contrary to Evans religious belief as well as that of his own blood relatives Evans sisters are Episcopalians

A writ of injunction was issued and the widow was restrained from cremating the body just as it was being prepared for the crematory oven After the widow had signed the legal document she threw it on the floor it is alleged and declared that her husbands sisters had ignored him while he lived but if they wanted to bury him they could as she had spent her last dollar to have the body cremated

The remains were then taken back to the undertaking establishment Later the widow changed her mind about allowing her husbands sisters to have the body for burial as will be known from the following taken from Sundays Cincinnati Enquirer

Contrary to her decision Friday to leave the care of her husband body to his relatives after they had secured a temporary injunction preventing her having the remains cremated Mrs Anna T Evans appeared before Common Pleas Judge Dickson yesterday to fight against the injunction being made permanent

Attorney Robert A Black was present with Miss Elizabeth Lake of this city Frank Mabey of Latonia and W H Bruce and wife of Marion sisters and brother in law of Frank B Evans the dead man while the widow had a few friends with her but no attorney Judge Dickson asked Mr Black if he had no counsel and she answered quickly that she had not saving I don need any The chief issue is that cremation is against religious belief and that they would be caused much humiliation if their brother remains were cremated as they consider cremation heathenish

The widow then took the stand and declared that he husband who was formerly a well known painter had always had a horror of being buried that the remains of his father had been buried in the old Vernonville cemetery and had later been dug up and exposed She said that he had made her promise to have him cremated after death He became insane a year ago and was sent to Lima but when she saw him a few weeks ago he seemed liked and was in his request that he be cremated

The case was a peculiar one and few authorities could be cited upon the subject and Judge Dickson created a precedent when he decided for the widow The court held that the remains first belong to the state until a burial permit is granted and then they become the property of the person who inherits the estate of the deceased as next of kin This every of kin is then charged with the duty of disposing of the remains in a manner that will prevent contagion

The courts will not interfere with a persons religious belief or conscience and the court unless the same is directly contrary to law and prohibited There is no law against cremation and therefore the widow has the right to the body

Mrs Evans at once made arrangements to have the cremation carried out She declared that she intends keeping the ashes in an urn in the home

Labor Wants Prosperity — Ohio Workingmen Do Not Believe the Colonel Has Given President Taft a Square Deal—How They View the Political Situation.

Columbus, O., April 9.—"Gloom, thick and heavy, has settled over national Roosevelt headquarters here," writes Ben F. Allen, well known Washington correspondent, in a recent dispatch to his Ohio paper. And continuing he adds: "From admissions it may be stated that in all probability the Roosevelt headquarters will be closed May 1, if not before."

Allen's statement is only one of many straws which indicate the way the political winds are blowing in the present contest for the Republican presidential nomination.

Word now comes from Youngstown, where the Roosevelt boom was first formally launched, that the Roosevelt movement there is practically leaderless and in a state bordering on collapse. Those Republicans who first gave sustenance and support to the La Follette and Roosevelt movements have since awakened to a realization that the underlying sentiment of the people in the Mahoning valley was not only friendly to President Taft, but unalterably opposed to yellow journalism and other forms of radicalism which were primarily responsible for the candidacies of Roosevelt and La Follette.

Still another important development which indicates the general trend of sentiment among the Republican voters of the state was the action of the Republican state central committee at its meeting here, when resolutions commending the administration of President Taft and endorsing him for renomination and re-election was adopted by a vote of sixteen to five.

Added Significance.

The fact that Walter Brown, chairman; I. M. Foster, secretary, and A. L. Garford, three members of the state committee, had been working day and night for weeks in an effort to convert other members of the committee to the Roosevelt program, that despite all of their efforts were able to induce only two additional members of the committee to vote with them against the Taft resolutions, gives added significance to the action taken.

A situation which is causing Roosevelt's lieutenants in Ohio no little alarm and which has even called forth apologetic editorials in some of the Roosevelt organs, is the "no rain" policy which Roosevelt has seemed inclined to advocate since he has been renominated at the various Republican primaries in the different sections of the country. The people generally like a game fighter, and that is one of the reasons for Roosevelt's popularity in the past, but they also like even more a game loser and many of Roosevelt's admirers have been deserting his standard since he has shown that he thinks more of his own personal success than he does of the success of the party which has so long and so often honored him. Even the Cleveland Leader, generally recognized as the chief Roosevelt organ in Ohio, has found it necessary within the last few days to publish editorials defending Roosevelt from the charge that he would bolt the Republican ticket and "go" unless he himself should be the nominee.

An interesting analysis of the situation in Cleveland which has been regarded as the hotbed of insurgency has been received at state headquarters from David Jennings, who for many years was one of the leading labor leaders of the city and who is still active in labor circles:

Sentiment Changes.

"I find," said he, "that many of the workingmen are now as strongly against Roosevelt as they were for him a few years ago. There are two reasons for this change in sentiment among the workingmen. First, they don't think Roosevelt has given Taft a square deal, which Roosevelt was so fond of preaching, and they have also lost faith in Roosevelt's sincerity. They figure that Roosevelt told the truth four years ago, when he spoke so highly of Taft's honesty, sincerity and ability, and that now he is preaching just the opposite about Taft simply because he wants to get back into office himself. Secondly they figure that the present political agitation by Roosevelt and La Follette is simply a scramble for power on the part of certain discontented political elements, and that the agitation, if continued, will only result in business depression. On the other hand, they have reached the conclusion that the re-election of President Taft, with his safe, steady hand at the helm, will insure a repetition of prosperity, with work and good wages for all. The workingmen are getting tired of sensationalism. They want progress, but they want it along sane lines."

The fad of wearing patches of "beauty spots" on the chin and cheek has been revived and several society women are appearing in public with the unique facial adornments, which are usually made of court-plaster. Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, at left, and Mrs. Robert Goelet, at right, show how they would appear wearing face patches.

TO HOLD CONVENTION IN INDIAN VILLAGE

Democrats Will Gather, Tuesday, June 18.

In spite of the fact that Senator R. H. Fineirock, of Prospect, wanted the senatorial convention held in Marion, the joint Democratic senatorial committee at its first meeting held at Upper Sandusky, Monday night, decided to hold the convention in the Indian village, Tuesday, June 18. Frederick E. Guthery, of this city, chairman of the old Thirteenth district committee, presided at the meeting, which was held in the courthouse. Editor Frank C. Poppleton, of Prospect, a member of the committee, was in attendance. A majority of the committee from the start favored Upper Sandusky as the scene of the convention.

The following temporary organization was effected: Thomas C. Mahon, of Kenton, chairman; Harry Schuler, of Galion, secretary; W. F. Veith, of Upper Sandusky, sergeant-at-arms.

The basis of representation in the convention was fixed at one delegate for every 200 votes cast for governor in 1910 and one delegate for every fraction over 100.

Delegates in the district's various counties will be chosen in the manner to be determined by the Democratic central committees in each county.

MARION FRIENDS ARE GIVEN A SURPRISE

Miss Grace Goetting and Mr. Carl E. Danner Wed.

The many friends of Miss Grace Goetting and Mr. Carl E. Danner, of this city, will be surprised to learn of their marriage which was celebrated in Columbus, Monday morning. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Burns, pastor of the Methodist church, at the parsonage of the church, the couple being unattended.

Miss Goetting went to Columbus, Friday, to visit her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Fredrick Shaw. Mr. Danner went to Columbus the following day, arrangements for the marriage having been previously planned. The only cause assigned for keeping the marriage a secret was to surprise their many friends, but the secret leaked out through the publication of the marriage license.

Both parties are very well know in this city. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Goetting, of Lee street, and has a wide circle of friends. Mr. Danner is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Danner, of Lee street, and is employed in the shipping department of the Binley Grocery company. Mr. Danner returned home Monday evening. Mrs. Danner remained in Columbus to visit her relatives and will return in a few days.

PERSONAL PROPERTY ASSESSORS ARE BUSY

Vigorous Campaign in the Taxing Districts.

DISTRIBUTION OF THE PROPER BLANKS

The Assessors Must Pay Close Attention to the Instructions and Violations Will Be Given Prompt Attention — All Persons Must Make Oath as to Valuations.

Assessors of personal property in Marion county's thirty-nine taxing districts are now busily engaged in the most vigorous campaign for taxation that has ever been known in the history of the county, according to County Auditor Jay Spaulding and members of the county and city boards of review.

The assessors, Monday, began distributing the flood of blanks into every home, as is required by law. Explicit instructions have been printed and placed in the hands of the assessors and Auditor Spaulding has been assured by the state tax commission that it will act swiftly when violations of the instructions are reported.

The instructions tell the assessors emphatically and plainly to comply exactly with the laws, which have been disregarded for years. Each person in the county, man or woman, must fill out one of the blanks and report all of their personal property at its true value in money above $100 and take an oath before the assessor that the return is absolutely true.

All of the assessors were fully instructed by the auditor, last Saturday. A number of them came in for further instructions, Tuesday, after beginning Monday's canvas.

William Thatcher, who was elected as assessor in Third F. found that he would be unable to serve and Auditor Spaulding appointed D. S. Belt in his place.

EXAMINERS MAKE A REPORT TUESDAY

The Condition of the County Treasury Is Pleasing.

Isaac E. Osbun and George E. McCormick, who were appointed to conduct the semi-annual examination of the county treasury, Tuesday filed with Probate Judge W. S. Spencer their report, which shows the county to have approximately $175,000 in the county depositories drawing two per cent. interest. The examiners find the accounts of the treasurer and the auditor showing a perfect balance for the first time in eight or nine years. The treasurer's cash up until now has stood $7.25 in excess of the balance shown on the auditor's books, as a result of an accumulation of errors made in bookkeeping. This small sum has been eliminated by a simple book transaction by the treasurer and the auditor, the treasurer having drawn a check to himself for the amount, which was turned back into the treasury on a pay-in order from the auditor.

Reference is made to the $500 conscience fund," with the statement that this amount, pending the settlement of court litigation concerning to which fund it should be credited, has been placed in the bank by the treasurer as a certificate of deposit and draws four per cent. interest for the county.

Both the treasurer and the auditor are highly commended by the examiners.

HARMON PETITIONS BEING CIRCULATED

Strong Local Sentiment Against the Governor.

Every Democratic central committeeman in Marion county has been provided with Harmon presidential petitions and asked to circulate them through the country. In view of the fact that eleven of the central committeemen are candidate for office, and because of the strong sentiment prevailing among certain Democrats against Harmon, the committeemen are making no great rush to secure signatures.

"I am not a Harmon man at heart," said a central committeeman Tuesday afternoon, "but I am a candidate for office, so I took the petition and am carrying it around with me. I don't present it to any one to sign, however, without first discovering where he stands concerning the governor."

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE STOCKHOLDERS

Marion County Bank Company Elects Directors.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Marion County Bank company was held at the bank offices, Monday afternoon, with more than two thirds of the stock represented. After the reading of the annual report, which showed a satisfactory addition to the surplus, after paying the usual dividend, the nine directors were reelected by unanimous vote. They are W. B. Fisher, George D. Copeland, C. C. Fisher, George B. Christian, H. A. True, W. G. Harding, Henry Ackerman, J. G. Leffler and W. H. Schaffner.

Suit Is Dismissed.

The divorce petition of Albert McClary against May McClary was dismissed at the costs of the plaintiff, Tuesday afternoon. A reconciliation has been effected.

THE MARION CEMETERY ASSOCIATION MEETS

Officers Are Elected for the Coming Year Monday Evening.

At the annual meeting of the Marion Cemetery association in the directors' room of the Marion National bank, Monday evening, S. E. DeWolfe was elected president; D. R. Crissinger, vice president; Charles N. Phillips, secretary and treasurer, and John E. Waddell, trustee for three years.

Mr. Waddell will take the place of the late Isaac A. Merchant on the board of trustees.

The secretary's report showed the association to be in a flourishing financial condition, with a cash balance on hands of $38,025.46 over all the year's expenses.

Among the improvements made during the year was the building of an addition to the green-house at a cost of $537.28. With this extension the association's green-houses at the cemetery are among the finest in Ohio for cities the size of Marion.

Another expenditure of the year was the installation of steam heat in the cemetery superintendent's cottage at a cost of $430.

John F. Lust was elected a member of the association, succeeding to the vacancy created by the death of Isaac A. Merchant.

CHARLES E. LUKENS ENTERS THE RACE

Why He Would Make a Good County Representative.

Charles E. Lukens has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for representative. In connection with his candidacy Mr. Lukens says that he is an active representative of the Universal Peace union, that his writings upon education are known throughout Christendom among those interested in universal peace and arbitration and he is first to advocate a national history of our country for all public schools to be prepared by a commission appointed by congress.

Mr. Lukens further states that he has never felt handicapped as a peace advocate with the names of two officers of two wars. He was given the name of Ellsworth in honor of the first soldier to lose his life in the civil war and he is a descendant of Colonel Charles Lynch, the reputed author of the Lynch law. His forefathers were invariably loyal and participated in making the colonial history of six of the thirteen original colonies. He is a native of Warren county, but has resided in Marion twelve years.

ASHES MUST REMAIN SUBJECT TO DECISION

Mrs. William H. Bruce Denies Story Published.

Mrs. William H. Bruce, of Park boulevard, a sister of Frank B. Evans, over the incineration of whose body Evans' widow and his sisters went into the Cincinnati court, returned home from the Queen City, Monday.

Mrs. Bruce denies the story published in the Cincinnati Enquirer to the effect that the judge directed that her brother's ashes be turned over to the widow. The sisters fought to keep the widow from incinerating the body because it was contrary to their religious views, but the court held that the body could be cremated. The widow testified that it was her husband's wish. The judge, according to Mrs. Bruce, directed that Evans' ashes, following the incineration of his body, should remain in the custody of the crematory superintendent for a period of thirty days pending the decision of the sisters as to what disposition should be made of them.

ENDANGERED DAY.

By William T. Ellis.

The International Sunday-School Lesson for April 14 Is, "Use of the Sabbath." Mark II:23, to III:6. Golden Text, Mark II:27.

The multitude and variety of knives, forks and spoons alongside of his plate at a formal city dinner bothers the plain man, and if he is over-sensitive to the formalities he will not get much joy out of the meal. Nevertheless, he would be a small man indeed who would go hungry because he did not know the rules concerning the newest-fashioned table utensils. Before ever men ate with cutlery or from tables, they managed to dispose of their food: to the present day a few scores of millions of persons eat wholly with their fingers. The illustration portrays the type of persons who are missing the nourishment of religion and its institutions because they are perplexed by the many regulations and proprieties and usages. In particular, here is the Sunday-observance question, brought again to the fore by the present Sunday-school lesson, and it finds a multitude of persons sorely perplexed because they want to conform to some man-made rules.

Let it be confessed, frankly, that a great multitude of Christians are bewildered and uncertain in the face of the new aspects of the Sunday subject. Bound by precedents and practices, eager to do right, they find themselves helpless in the face of the real Sunday question. Many of the old positions of the churches with respect to details of Sunday observance have been utterly and irrevocably lost. Christianity can not maintain today the kind of Sunday that was kept 100 years ago. The new times, with their general diffusion of knowledge, which has robbed the preacher and the Sunday service of the function of principal intellectual leadership: and the many new inventions, as of steam and electricity, which have changed altogether man's conception of a neighborhood, have created conditions for which there is no solution in the detailed arguments of the church fathers.

A Live Issue.

Both state and church are involved in the present uncertainty. If the Christian Sabbath is to go, the entire character of the civilization of North America will be affected. Sunday has been a vital factor in the creation of this unique western life. The Lord's day, as Canada and the United States know it, has been one of the greatest forces differentiating them from Europe. In all the continent of Europe there is nothing like a Toronto, or Boston, or Philadelphia, or Southern Sabbath. Travelers from abroad comment upon the peace and restfulness of the American Sunday. Has that Sabbath been outgrown? Are we ready to discard it?

The point is pertinent. He is blind to the drift of the day who does not see that the institution of the Christian Sunday is seriously menaced. Great influences are at work to make Sunday a mere holiday. The opening of all places of amusement, the popularity of Sunday athletics, and the drift of men away from the churches, all show the tendency to use this day as a secular day. That Sunday may not lose its sacred character, and become a mere holiday, without eventually becoming a work day, is a proposition which many thoughful men undertake to maintain. I pass it by, to point out the fact, sufficient for present interest, that the church, generally speaking, is today in a dazed condition, seeking desperately to hold on to shreds of the Puritan Sabbath.

In spite of ecclesiastical resolutions, of countless sermons, and of special organizations, the undeniable drift of our time is away from the sacred observance of the Lord's Day. This loss means the disappearance of our historical rest day, the day of peace, of worship and of idealism. The best in our American life is inseparately bound up with this institution of the Sabbath, which has nourished alike our patriotism, our domestic ideals, and our religion.

Can Church Afford It?

The time has arrived when we may consider fearlessly what will happen to the church if Sunday becomes like other days. Then we shall find out whether the Sabbath is merely an advantageous prop, sustaining the church, or whether it is a vital institution, essential to the existence of Christianity. Certainly our Sunday makes church-going easy and natural, and affords time and leisure and sanction for specific Christian work. It gives the right-of-way to religion.

In open competition with all the devices of modern amusement, can the church hold her own. If Sunday is not different from other days, may we expect the stated worship of God in public assembly to survive? It unquestionably would, even as it survives in heathen lands, but the experience would be costly to both the church and the world. Such an event would be a calamity of the first order. All historical considerations aside, the Lord's day is a monument to the place of the church among men: it is an expression of the present life and activity of the church. It stands for the power of religion among men.

This being so, the best way to insure the permanence of the Lord's day is to vitalize the church, so that the Sabbath may take its character from the up-welling life of the Christian community. Let the Sabbath be the consequence of the spiritual mind of the people, and there will be no question about its observance.

The Picture or the Frame?

Sometimes a picture is so elaborately framed, and surrounded with such overwhelming detail, that the picture itself is lost sight of. In somewhat this fashion, the "don'ts" of the churches have often shut out a vision of the real character of the Lord's day. Men have sought to make the Sabbath to prevail by prohibitions. The persistence of the Jewish and Puritan ideals of the day have singularly affected the Christian church, despite her emancipation from the old dispensation in other respects. The ancient Jews created an elaborate system of regulations for their Sabbath. The Puritans went as far, or farther. They succeeded in creating a day that was built on the principle that one's neighbors should not do what one thought wrong.

That type of Lord's day can no longer prevail. The issue is very much bigger than petty questions about whether to cook meals on the Sabbath, or ride in the cars, or walk abroad, or read the Sunday newspapers. These are incidentals for individual decision. They hinder a grasp of the big principles involved. It is time to look at the picture and forget the frame.

This trail leads straight back to Christ. In His example and teaching must be found the warrant for the observance of the day. We are startled to find that Jesus always appears in connection with the Sabbath in the role of a Sabbath-breaker. This should give pause to us when we are tempted to impose our interpretations upon another man. Today's lesson enunciates two principles, "The Sabbath was made for man," and, "It is awful to do good on the Sabbath." On this platform Jesus fought the narrow legalists whose regulations had compressed the life out of the great day which the law of Moses designed to be a time of rest, and of refreshing memories.

The Day To Fight For.

Let us give up the fight for that Puritan Sabbath, upon which a man could not even kiss his wife. Whatever Sabbath we keep must be a twentieth century Sabbath, and so kept in modern ways. Practices must be for individual interpretation. The preservation of the essential spirit of the day alone is important. Cheerfully may we surrender any rules or regulations, if only we succeed in saving the day of the Lord in the spirit of Jesus.

And what is that Sabbath? By His definition, it is a day that ministers to man. "The Sabbath was made for man;" but to interpret that statement as meaning that the day was created only for the baser uses of the lower and physical nature of man is absurd. The highest exercise of any office or function is its truest. The Sabbath ministers to man's body, but, more important than that, it serves his immortaal spirit. The Sabbath was made first of all for that part of man which is immortal. If his mind and soul are not the stronger and the nobler for this one day in seven, then there has been no proper Sabbath observance. The best Sabbath helps man to be his best self. Too much consideration for the body and its pleasures would give us a decadent Rome.

By the second definition of Jesus, this should be a ministering day. His example set the seal of worship upon it, for in the house of God the memorial purposes of the Sabbath are best observed. Then the day is to be put to uses of charity and brotherliness. The sick are to be remembered, and all the world's needy. A day that will bring thoughts of God and the help of God to all men is a Sabbath day in the spirit of Christ. For more than it needs "bread and circuses," or higher wages and more pleasures, this old world needs a new, vital sense of the relation of man to God. A proper Sabbath is one strong strand of this tie.

PROSPECT ELECTORS VOTE THE VILLAGE WET

SPIRITED CAMPAIGN BUT IS VERY ORDERLY

Speakers Are Sent into the Field by the Anti-Saloon League and the Drys Are Confident of Success. Great Interest Is Shown by Voters in Contest.

Prospect electors voted wet by a majority of nineteen in Monday's Beal law election. Three hundred and four votes were cast, 142 dry, 161 wet and one that was illegally marked.

The result of the contest was certified to the Marion county board of elections in this city, Tuesday.

In the county local option election held last November, Prospect corporation cast about 290 votes and gave a dry majority of thirty-seven. For this reason it was thought by the Ohio Anti-Saloon league and others that the village would vote dry again under a Beal law election. Speakers from Columbus and Cleveland were sent into the field by the Anti-Saloon league, and a hot campaign was waged.

The election was conducted in an orderly manner, and no demonstration followed when the result became known Monday night.

According to the election officials, the one illegal ballot cast was marked on the right side instead of in the space prescribed by law.

JOHN BOOR APPEARS IN COMMON PLEAS COURT

Must Pay Alimony or Go to Jail Quickly.

ANSWERS CHARGE OF CONTEMPT WEDNESDAY

Back Alimony Amounts to Sum of $40—Motion for New Trial in Suit of Ackerman Against the City Is Overruled by Judge W. F. Duncan—Court Notes.

John Boor was cited before Judge Daniel Babst in the court of common pleas, Wednesday, to show why he should not be adjudged in contempt because he failed to comply with the court's orders to pay $10 a month for the support of his child. Boor, who is employed by the Marion Steam Shovel company, was told to pay the back alimony, amounting to $40, or expect to go to jail. The judge directed him to appear in court again Thursday morning at 8 30 o'clock.

Boor's former wife, Josephine, obtained a decree two or three years ago, and is now married again. She was also given custody of the child. Boor is also married again.

A motion for a new trial in the $15,500 damage suit of Genevieve Ackerman against the city has been overruled by Judge W. F Duncan, of Findlay, who sat in the trial, which was held in 1911. The plaintiff sought to recover damages as a result of a falling into a telephone pole hole in the grassy lawn at Center and Leader streets and injuring her leg. The jury denied her damage, the court holding that she did not use the ordinary care required by law.

Wednesday, Judge Babst authorized John A. Huber, receiver for the Grand Opera-House company, to invest the funds in his custody in some interest-bearing fund, either stocks or notes. This was done on the motion of Crissinger & Guthery, representing Henry Strelitz, Frank R. Salter and other in their suit against the Grand Opera-House company and others.

The suit of Rebecca A. Vinson, as administratrix of the last will and testament of James W. Vinson, against Lydia Noyes, has been settled out of court. The petition was dismissed at the costs of the plaintiff. This was an action started April 28, 1908, to compel the defendant to render an accounting of the rentals and profits of a property at La Rue.

An action, entitled Morton J. Harraman against George W. Hinklin and Mary A. Hinklin, started August 11, 1910, to set aside a deed conveying about fifty acres in Montgomery township, was dismissed at the costs of the defendant Wednesday. The plaintiff set up in his petition that George W. Hinklin transferred the land to his wife to escape paying a judgement of $167 86 obtained against him by the plaintiff in the court of the late Justice A. Amerine at La Rue, March 11, 1903.

A suit to recover judgement of $375, with interest from December 20, 1909, brought in 1910 by the late Dr. Austin Shuey, of Prospect, against Ell M. West, receiver for the Columbus, Delaware & Marion Railway company, has been settled out of court. The petition was dismissed by Judge Daniel Babst, Tuesday. MARION MERCHANTS PLAN TRADE CARNIVAL

Unique Method To Draw Trade to This City.

LEADING MERCHANTS JOIN IN MOVEMENT

Big Cooperative Fare-Refunding Sale in Which Many Special Inducements Will Be Offered—An Opportunity for People Out of the City To Buy Right.

Arrangements have practically been completed for a big-cooperative fare-refunding sale in Marion and for seven days, beginning Saturday April 20, and ending Saturday, April 27, the people of this section will be given an unusual opportunity to lay in a supply of all kinds of seasonable merchandise at prices which can not be surpassed or even duplicated in any town or city in the state of Ohio

This sale will be known as "The First Annual Spring Trading Festival," in Marion. In the range and variety of bargains offered it will be unique. Practically every merchant in the city will make inducement prices on his line of goods for this sale, and those in need of anything from a dish pan to a complete outfit for a home, or a pair of hose to a complete clothing outfit, shoes and all, should avail themselves of this opportunity to lay in a supply of merchandise.

Not only are the merchants going to make it an object to the buying public in the way of prices and assortment of goods, but in addition to this they are going to refund the fares to all out-of-town customers during this big sale. So it can readily be seen that it will be an exceptional opportunity for the buying public to save money in providing for their personal and household needs.

Many may wonder why the merchants of Marion are uniting in a movement of this kind, but the reason is simple when explained. The idea was first suggested and is being promoted by the Star. Every merchant is being requested to make some special inducements in the way of goods and prices for one week and at the same time agree to pay their proportion of the fares refunded to all out-of-town customers who do their trading in Marion during the sale week.

The plan is meeting with almost the universal approval of all the leading merchants, and as a result it will be the biggest trading event known in Marion or this section of the state.

Further announcements will be made of this big cooperative fare refunding sale from day to day in the Star. Watch for these announcements They will mean an actual saving of money for the people within a radius of the sale. Good merchandise will be offered, as stated above at prices which will be hard, if not impossible to duplicate in any town or city in this section of the state.

ROBERT P. CRIST IS PAROLED BY BOARD

Application of Pearl Noggle Is Rejected Wednesday.

The session of the board of parole of the Mansfield reformatory, which was held in Mansfield, was closed Wednesday. Among the prisoners given paroles was Robert P. Crist, who was sent to the reformatory, February 14, 1911, for robbery. The board rejected the application of Pearl Noggle for parole

Noggle was sent to the reformatory February 17, 1911, on a charge of attempting a criminal assault on an eleven-year-old girl. The case against Crist will be well remembered by local citizens. Driven to desperation over his need of money to keep up his college standing, Crist entered the Bowers' jewelry store, and, at the point of a revolver, compelled Miss Ethel Krause the clerk, to hand over a tray of diamonds Crist's home is in Delaware.

CONDITION OF WHEAT AND THE OTHER CROPS

Official Report of Ohio Department of Agriculture.

PRESENT CONDITION OF WHEAT IS POOR

The Seeding Throughout the State Is Late and the Weather Conditions Are Extremely Bad—The Corn Crop Not What It Should Have Been—Spring Is Backward.

The following report, reference to wheat and other crops, is compiled from returns received from official correspondents of the Ohio department of agriculture.

Wheat, condition compared with average, 61 per cent; crop of 1911 still in producers hands, 16 per cent.; weeks of snow protection, 8.

Winter barley, condition compared with average, 70 per cent.

Rye, condition compared with average, 74 per cent.

Corn, condition in crib compared with average, 78 per cent.; remained unhusked during winter, 12 per cent; damage to unhusked during winter, 22 per cent.; damage to fodder during winter, 31 per cent.

Fruit, prospect compared with normal yield, 67 per cent.; buds winter-killed, 37 per cent.

The average prices at this time are: wheat, ninety-six cents a bushel; corn, seventy cents; barley, fifty-two cents; oats, fifty-five cents; rye, eighty-seven cents; potatoes, $1 34 and hay, $23 a ton.

Present condition of Ohio's wheat crop is poor. Correspondents estimate it at sixty-one per cent. compared with an average. One month ago condition was reported at sixty-three per cent. April 1, last year, condition was estimated at eighty-four per cent. Generally over the state seeding was late, and the plant had made but small growth at commencement of winter. Early sown wheat is in fair condition. Many fields in northwestern section of state are still covered with snow and ice. In southeastern section plant appears to have suffered from insufficient snow protection and has been further damaged during past month by alternate thawing and freezing. Reports indicate that many acres will be plowed up and the fields put to other crops. Farmers should profit by experience of past years and not be hasty in matter of abandoning wheat fields. In 1909, on April 1, the growing condition of wheat was estimated at sixty-two per cent. Farmers were discouraged and nine per cent. of the original wheat area was abandoned. The harvest that year resulted in an average production of sixteen bushels an acre Total production was 27,000,000 bushels. Quality of the crop eighty-seven per cent. compared with an average. April 1, 1896, condition of wheat was estimated at fifty-seven per cent. Eleven per cent. of the original area was plowed up. During the month of April the plant made fine growth, but later was attacked by Hessian fly. The harvest was a failure. Average yield an acre was eight bushels. Total state production 17,000,000 bushels. Quality of crop sixty-one per cent. compared with an average. The failure that year was attributed solely to ravages of fly. The estimated wheat production last year was 31,000,000 bushels. It is now estimated that sixteen per cent. of that harvest still remains in producers' hands.

The condition of corn in crib is estimated at seventy-eight per cent. compared with an average. The crop was in poor condition for cribbing, owing to continued wet weather. Reports of mold and rot were very general at husking time During the winter the unhusked corn suffered damage to the extent of twenty-two per cent.

The backward season has made it impossible to accurately estimate fruit prospect. Compared with a normal yield, prospect is estimated at sixty-seven per cent Reports of damage refer almost wholly to peach crop An unusually large number of correspondents report spraying and pruning in progress The awakening to the proper care of the orchards is attributed to the teachings garnered from the recent visit of the booster train over the state, orchard demonstrations by the various agricultural institutions and exhibits by these latter at county fairs

The present season is the most backward in years Plowing and spring work have been retarded by the unfavorable weather conditions In marked contrast is the present season compared with the one a year ago

The quaint Scotch comedy, "Bunty Pulls the Strings," is full of original sayings quaintly put and full of dry humor. Among them are some admonitions to women, such as these: "Even though ye are plain, dinna be so plain as ye look" "Wummin make a great mistake when they think a' a man cares aboot is to see ye looking bonny It's true he dinna want a wumman around lookin' like a hen that's been out in the rain. No matter how plain ye are, ye maun continue to look attractive enough for a kiss; but it's easy, if ye are a wumman of sense"

PARTY REUNITED ON TARIFF ISSUE

Republicans Vote for the Tariff Board's Wool Bill.

IS TRIUMPH FOR PRESIDENT TAFT

The President Shows Capacity for Party Leadership and Takes His Place in History as the Great Tariff Revisionist — How the House Members Vote on the Bill.

Washington, April 10 —That the tariff is no longer a bone of contention between Republican members of the house of representatives was made plain by the vote on the wool bill April 1. The crucial test of Republicanism came on the motion of Representative Sereno E. Payne, of New York, to recommit the Democratic bill and substitute the Republican wool revision bill, based absolutely on the report of the tariff board, which was put into the Payne tariff law by President Taft and his friends. It will be recalled that the greatest split in the Republican ranks in 1909 occurred over the wool schedule and it is a remarkable fact that the first tariff measure upon which the Republicans were again to show a united front was the wool bill offered by the Republican minority in the house April 1. Thus, under the leadership of President Taft the party split on woll and has again been reunited on the tariff on that schedule by reason of the tariff board asked for and appointed by President Taft.

An analysis of the vote on the motion to substitute the Republican wool bill is most interesting. Twenty Republicans voted against the conference report on the Payne tariff bill in the house of representatives and eleven of these twenty April 1 voted for the Republican bill based on the tariff board report, as follows:

Representatives Haugen, Hubbard, and Kendall, of Iowa; Mann, of Illinois; Miller, Nye, Steenerson, Stevens and Volstead, of Minnesota; Murdock, of Kansas; Nelson, of Wisconsin.

Three Republicans who voted against the Payne law were paired with Democrats and would have voted for the bill had they been present: Cary, Wisconsin; Davis, Minnesota; and Woods, Iowa.

Those Not Paired.

The only Republican not paired who voted against the Payne bill and who did not vote was Representative Lenroot, of Wisconsin.

The only Republican who voted against both the Payne bill and the Republican substitute bill April 1, was Representative Lindbergh, of Minnesota.

The only other Republican to vote against the Republican substitute bill was Representative William Kent, of California, a warm supporter of Colonel Roosevelt.

This accounts for sixteen of the original opponents of the Payne bill on the vote April 1. As indicated above four of the members who voted against the Payne bill are no longer members of the house. Three of them have Republican successors, however, and one was succeeded by a Democrat Two of the three Republicans voted for the Republican substitute April 1 and one was paired as follows:

Voted for the Bill.

Representative LaFollette, of Washington, who succeeded Senator Miles Poindexter; Representative De Forest, of New York, who succeeded George N. Southwick

Those Paired.

Representative Helgesen, of North Dakota, who succeeded Senator Asle Gronna.

Representative Keifer, of Ohio, was succeeded by a Democrat.

The recapitulation therefore, shows that thirteen congressional districts which were represented as against the Payne bill in 1909 voted to support the Republican substitute bil April 1, that six more districts against the Payne bill did not have their votes recorded and that one district is now represented by a Democrat The net result is a great victory for President Taft as the leader of a reunited Republican party on the tariff issue, which reunion was accomplished through the medium of the tariff board asked for, approved, and appointed by President Taft himself. As indicating the capacity of the president for safe and sane leadership the outcome is significant.

MARION DEPARTMENT COMPANY'S OPENING

Great Crowd Inspects Big Store Tuesday Evening.

STORE IS ONE OF THE FINEST IN THE STATE

Hundreds of Visitors Pass Through the Store and While Enjoying the Great Store's Pleasures Are Entertained by Orchestral Music. Souvenirs Are Given.

A surging crowd that at times was handled with some little difficulty inspected the enlarged and remodeled store of the Marion Department company on east Center and south State streets, Tuesday evening, on the occasion of its formal opening following the completion of the work. An estimate of the number of people who visited the store during the evening could not be made.

The doors of the big establishment were thrown open at 7 o'clock, and from that time until late in the evening a continual stream of people filed its way through the store. At 8 o'clock, the crowd packed the isles of the store to their capacity, and at all times during the evening the store was filled.

In every way the big opening was doubtless one of the most successful ever held in the city. It was a splendid indication of the standing attained by the company heretofore, and it was a treat for the people of Marion who just at this time are interested in new furniture for spring.

For the most part the big crowd entered by the right east Center street door, and inspected the stock to right and left down the long aisle to the rear of the room, ascended to the second floor where an assortment of stock fully as complete as that on the first floor was inspected. Coming again to the first floor, the visitors passed out either at the Center street or State street doors and the ladies, as they passed out, were given pretty carnations and tulips. During a part of the evening, the officers of the company were able to greet their visitors who, in turn spoke a brief word of congratulation on the handsomely remodeled store. W. J. Grills, president of the company, and F. M. Hochstetter vice president, were overwhelmed by the flood of visitors and could not greet all their guests.

Five-Piece Orchestra.

Located at the front of the store was McNeal's five-piece orchestra which furnished splendid music during the entire evening. Courteous attendants assisted the people in seeing the stock, all of which was arranged in artistic fashion, presenting a very pleasing appearance. The rooms on both the first and second floor were very tastily decorated for the opening, nad the well-lighted store with its pretty decorations was beautiful indeed.

Not the least feature attracting attention during the evening was the window display, the first to appear in the splendidly arranged windows, modern in every respect. The advantage of the big prism glass was well demonstrated and the display as a whole was one of the most beautiful of its kind ever seen in the city. A well-arranged display of furniture, with a beautiful centerpiece of roses, made up a part of the window display, while the other side depicted an arrangement for the summer cottage or the porch. With the interlinking decorations, a harmonious effect, unusually attractive, was reached. A flood of light from the many electric bulbs on the ceiling of the window gave added beauty to the scene.

The company well deserves its name as a complete house-furnishing establishment, if the stock on both floors is an indication. Any attempt to describe such a mammoth stock would be futile. Everything in the line of household furniture is handled. Seemingly nothing that could be wanted is missing. All of the stock, too, is of a high quality, such as has always been handled by the company, and with which it has built up its envious reputation in this city.

Fine Arrangement.

As to the improvements made in the arrangement of the rooms, much could be said. The fine new front is one of the very best and most handsome, as well as convenient, in the city. The company has realized the need of displaying goods to the very best advantage, and knowing the excellent advertising value of prope-window displays, has expended heavily for the very best in this line. The heavy prism plates of glass are among the largest single plates used here, and, reaching almost to the pavement, the passerby almost stands among the furniture while he is inspecting it from the outside. Two doorways also have been arranged to the right and left of the big window so that the customers will have every advantage there.

Other extensive repairs have been made at the rear of the room. A convenient stairway has been arranged and a second floor almost a duplicate of the first, has been stored with everything that would be needed in the furnishing of the up-to-date home. Additional facilities for the handling of goods have been obtained by the better arrangement and the enlargement of floor space.

The improvement in the lighting of the store is a feature. The spacious floors are fitted with every new feature in the way of lighting, and this improvement will be beneficial for the patrons The excellence of the lighting system was fully demonstrated at the opening, Tuesday evening, when the big rooms seemingly were flooded with light.

The visitors were pleased, Tuesday evening and they expressed their pleasure freely.

In memory of Mungo Park and Richard Landor, who explored the course of the River Niger, it is proposed to erect an obelisk of similar design and dimensions to Cleopatra's Needle, on a projecting point of land at Forcados.

The ladies of the Home and Foreign missionary societies met with the Presbytery at this time.

Only matters of a routine nature were given attention at the meeting of the Presbytery Wednesday. Much of the business pertained to the union of the Marion and Bellefontaine Presbyteries.

The officers of the Home and Foreign societies at the meeting, that morning, were allowed to stand as they have been, in order that a complete reorganization may be effected when the two Presbyteries have united Mrs. W. The sessions of the Presbytery and those of the ladies' societies closed Wednesday afternoon

REPUBLICANS OF MICHIGAN

Have Warm Time at Their Convention.

THE GOVERNOR CALLS OUT NATIONAL GUARD

Violent Scenes Mark Preliminary Proceedings.

Full Taft Delegation Gains Seats Early and the Roosevelt Faction Stands Outside, Hammering for Admittance — Two Conventions Likely To Result—Kentucky Republicans Get Together.

Bay City, Mich., April 11.—Violent scenes marked the preliminary proceedings of the Republican state convention today. Roosevelt and Taft forces were lined up at the door of the armory, on the side and in every conceivable place where they might gain admission, while members of the Michigan national guard under command of Captain Beckwith preserved order in compliance with an official request from Governor Osborn. There was incessant rapping and pounding on doors and windows by impatient delegates on both sides as the work of checking off the floor progressed.

The Roosevelt men were successful in getting former Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana into the hall soon after the state central committee, presided over by Secretary King, took up the matters of arrangements. Beveridge took his seat to await the result as to whether he was to speak. Grant Fellows, of Hudson, a Taft man, who supplanted Truman H. Newberry, entered the hall with the committee and Newberry came in a short time afterward, carrying in his pocket a letter from the committee stating that he had been deposed.

Mr. Knox Protests.

King took matters in charge, and the appointment of Robert Shields of Hancock as acting chairman to succeed W. Frank Knox, a Roosevelt man, was put through over the protest of Knox, who claimed the proceeding to be illegal.

At 12:30 o'clock the full Taft delegation had gained seats and the Roosevelt delegation was still outside. State Central Committeeman Baird made a motion at 12 o'clock that no delegates be admitted to the floor of the convention unless provided with a ticket signed by the secretary of the state central committee. The motion carried and Sergeant at Arms Lyle was instructed accordingly. One door of the convention hall was opened at 12:30 p. m. and Lyle began to admit only by one delegates bearing credentials signed by Secretary King of the state committee and refusing admittance to delegates bearing credentials signed by Chairman Knox.

One Is Thrown Down.

W. D. Gordon of Midland was thrown bodily from the convention platform when an attempt was made to call the convention to order at 1:30 p. m. Gordon insisted that he be recognized by Chairman Knox and climbed over the press table shouting:

Gentlemen you will hear me. I have been recognized by your chairman.

Gordon had just reached the side of State Chairman Knox when he received a tremendous push from behind. He crashed down on the press table demolishing several derby hats of the newspaper men and landing on the floor on his feet. He immediately climbed back on the platform rushing angrily toward Editor I. F. Cremer, of Marquette, who was one of those standing behind Gordon when he fell.

"Yes, I know who," shouted Gordon as his eyes met Cremer's hostile gaze and for a moment it looked as if Gordon and the editor would come to blows.

Fights Ensue.

A riot broke out at the entrance of the convention hall when the Roosevelt men tried to force their way in after the Taft delegates had been seated. Deputy State Factory Inspector John W. Smith had a hand to hand fight with a Taft man and a battle was precipitated at once. Half a dozen fist fights ensued, the policemen charging the combatants with their clubs.

March to Armory.

Bay City, Mich., April 11.—Shortly before the Republican state convention convened at noon Charles Nagel, of Detroit, manager for the Roosevelt forces in Michigan marched his delegates to the national guard armory door and said if there were a fair convention the Taft people could hold it.

"We have the delegates," said Nagel. "The unprecedented action of the state central committee last night is a practical admission of the fact that our forces that we are in the majority."

There promised to be startling developments following the action of the eighteen members of the committee in deposing Truman H. Newberry as temporary chairman and appointing Grant Fellows, of Hudson, a Taft supporter. It looked this morning as though two conventions would be held.

Slow in Working.

Louisville, Ky., April 11.—The Republican state convention was slow in getting down to business today, as it was waiting on a conference which was held by the Roosevelt leaders. At this conference it was determined that there would not be any bolt from the state convention, but that a contest of the entire state will be carried to Chicago on the grounds of fraud in the county conventions.

Cinched for Roosevelt.

St. Louis, April 11.—St. Louis county today elected a solid delegation of thirty-four Roosevelt men to the state convention to be held in St. Louis April 25. This practically cinches the state for Roosevelt over Taft.

Outlines Principles.

The imperial government will not surrender supreme authority. That is the cardinal principles of this bill. But it will confer real autonomy regarding Irish affairs. There will be a parliament consisting of an Irish senate and house of commons. This body may make laws relating to Irish affairs, but may not touch matters as the crown, army, navy and vital imperial affair, Irish land purchase, old-age pensions nor the national insurance acts.

In further suming up the powers and limitations of the bill, the premier said:

"Parliament will not be alowed to endow any religion, impose any religious tests or interfere with the validity of mixed marriages. Nor shall religious disability affect the appointment of lord lieutenants, who will hold office for terms of ten years."

Senate and House.

The senate will be composed of forty members and the houses will sit together. Ulster's representation will be fifty-nine. Members of the senate will be nominated in the first instance by imperial proclamation and will be retired in rotation. The power house will be called the house of representatives and shall consist of 164 members, elected by the people.

"All taxes will be paid direct to the imperial exchequer. As the Irish revenue for the coming year is estimated at $50,000,000 and the expenditures are estimated at $60,000,000, the deficit will not be excessive. Money for the payment of Irish officials will be advanced yearly from the imperial to the Irish exchequer. Parliament will be empowered to impose Irish taxation devise new taxes or reduce such revenues and it will have a free hand regarding excise duties, but it will not be able to add any imperial duty on customs.

The bill if passed, will serve as Ireland's constitution.

Retains Veto Power.

The premier stated that imperial parliament retains the power to veto or postpone any legislation that the Irish parliament passes.

If question arises regarding the validity of any Irish act," said Mr. Asquith, "it will be decided first by the Irish court of appeal and will afterward be passed upon by a special judicial body."

Commons was thrown into uproar when Asquith, in referring to the Belfast speech of A. Bonar Law when the latter charged that the government had turned commons into a market place, challenged the opposition leader to repeat his remarks.

"I do," shouted Law springing to his feet.

When the pandemonium was partly stilled, Asquith cried:

"What was the government sold for?"

"Votes," replied Law.

By this time, Nationalists, Laborites and Liberals were standing up shouting "Muzzle him."

Order Is Restored.

Finally order was restored.

Ireland will not lose her representation in the imperial parliament with home rule," Mr. Asquith said, "but will continue to be presented with forty-two members."

Premier Asquith was cheered to an echo by the Liberals and Irish Nationalists when he concluded. There were hisses from the Unionists.

Sir Edward Carson followed in a violent speech attacking Premier Asquith the government and the home rule bill. He declared that the home rule proposals were an insult to Ulster and to parliament.

VALUE OF FARMS IN UNITED STATES

Number of Farms Is Given at 6,361,502 in Report.

Washington, April 11.—According to a summary of the thirteenth census issued today by the census bureau of the department of commerce and labor there are in the United States 6,361,502 farms containing a total of 878,798,000 acres of which 478,452,000 acres are improved. The land in farms represents somewhat less than one half, 46.2 per cent of the total land area of the country, while the improved land represents somewhat over one-half, 54.4 per cent of the total acreage of land in farms. Improved land thus represents almost exactly one fourth of the total land area of the country. The average size of a farm is 138.1 acres, of which on the average 75.2 acres are improved.

The total value of farm property reaches the enormous sum of $40,991,000,000, of which over two-thirds represents the value of land, about one sixth the value of buildings, and about another one-sixth the combined value of implements and machinery and of livestock. The average value of all farm property reported is $6,444. The average value of all farm property per acre of land in farms is $46.64, and the average value of land itself per acre $32.40.

It is a significant fact that whereas the total population increased twenty-one per cent since 1900, the urban population increased 24.8 per cent, and the rural population only 11.2 per cent.

STUDENTS DAUB PAINT ON SCHOOL BUILDING

Walks Painted in Class Colors and Sign Left.

The front walk of the Marion High school building and some of the posts of the fence surrounding the building were daubed with black and yellow paint by members of the junior class of the school some time Wednesday night. Black and yellow are the class colors.

A big framed sign done in the class colors was also tacked to the flagpole at the building. It was removed by one of the students of the school Thursday but much difficulty will probably be experienced in removing the paint about the building. No serious class trouble at the school is anticipated and the work done Wednesday evening was a surprise. The school building so far as is known, was not entered by the students.

Will Launch Paper.

Plans have been made by the students in the Marion High school to launch a high school paper here. A contest has been on at the school to ascertain the best name for the paper and Virgil Mealey, a freshman, has been awarded the honors. He suggested the name The Quiver and this name will be used. The paper will deal with high school events in general.

THE DEMOCRATS IN CONVENTION

Harmony Marks Empire State Gathering.

NINETY DELEGATES WILL BE ELECTED

No Factional Disputes To Mar Meeting.

New York Democrats Expect To Clean Up All Business Before Late Tonight—Mayor Gaynor Is Touted for the Presidency—Tariff To Be Leading Plank in Platform—Van Sant Voord's Speech.

New York, April 11.—The Democratic state convention this afternoon named the following delegates-at-large:

John A. Dix, James A. O'Gorman, Alton B. Parker and Charles F. Murphy.

Harmony Marks Meeting.

New York, April 11.—All was harmony when the New York state Democratic convention convened here today to elect ninety delegates to the national convention in Baltimore and adopt a platform. There were no factional disputes or threatened contests to mar the serenity of the gathering, and it was predicted that all the business would be cleaned up before late tonight.

As a result of the opposition of Leader Charles F. Murphy, of Tammany hall to the instruction of delegates to vote for any one man at Baltimore it was the belief that the ninety would go to Baltimore unhammelled by cut and dried orders. There was a strong feeling in favor of casting New York's first vote for Mayor William J. Gaynor of New York and many of the delegates appeared at the convention hall in Terrace Garden wearing buttons inscribed "Gaynor for President."

Announcement was made that the fight on the convention floor, which Henry P. Keith, of the First congressional district had threatened to launch because of an attempt to unseat him on the state committee, had been smoothed over at a meeting of the state committee.

It was decided to make the tariff the leading plank in the platform and the two most important resolutions for the consideration of the committeemen and the delegates assembled call for tariff reduction and enforcement of the anti-trust laws.

Van Sant Voord's Speech.

In his speech as temporary chairman of the Democratic state convention today, Seymour Van Sant Voord outlined the Democratic platform attacked the principles of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt assaulted the propaganda of Socialism and lauded the achievements of the Democratic party during the fifteen months it has been in power in this state. "In part," Mr. Van Sant Voord said:

Clinging still to the ancient Democratic faith in which we have been reared let us make our appeal to sanity to self-restraint to the manifest lessons of independence. As opposed to the demagogic protests advanced by a man strangely silent on the burning issue of the tariff that national suicide will attend the crime of refusing to accept him as the arbiter of our political destinies, let us lodge in the hearts of the people our protest against the growth of personal government, of Socialism of special privilege of the constant encroachment of the federal government upon the reserved rights of the states.

Colonel a Borrower.

In discussing Colonel Roosevelt, the temporary chairman said:

I do not say that the colonel's latter day platform is all bad. How can it be when he has borrowed a lot of it from the Democratic woodpile. But I do say that if American citizenship is confronted at the polls with the proposition to overturn the courts or destroy constitutional government under the guise of social justice—whatever that latest Roosevelt dogma may mean—the sober balance and respect for authority of a law abiding people without regard to political affiliations may be relied upon to welcome that un-American doctrine to a hospitable grave."

The speaker bitterly attacked Socialism. He lauded the platform adopted at Rochester on the occasion of the nomination of Governor Dix and said the part still stood upon it.

After the speech of Temporary Chairman Van Sant Voord the roll call of delegates took place and the convention then adjourned until 2 p. m.

During recess the resolutions committee turned down the woman suffrage plank offered by Mayor John K. Sague of Poughkeepsie. The plank got three votes.

Fitzgerald's Warm Remarks.

New York, April 11.—Charging President Taft with failing the people in their hour of need, and with taking refuge behind the tariff board when he sought an excuse for vetoing Democratic legislation for tariff reduction, Permanent Chairman Fitzgerald launched into bitter denunciation of the president when he came to deliver his speech—the real "keynote" speech of the state Democratic convention today.

But while Mr. Fitzgerald bombarded the national administration with accusations of tariff treachery extravagance and broken political promises he extolled the record of the Democrats in congress, saying:

"No political party has ever equalled our record in this congress. The promises made to the people have been rigorously fulfilled. We ask to be judged by what we have done. It is the measure of our capacity, of our intelligence and our patriotism."

On the Democratic outlook, the chairman said:

Never in all its existence have the prospects of the Democratic party been so bright, never has the party been more entitled to be entrusted with control of governmental affairs, never has it been more deserving of the confidence of the country. In the coming campaign the party will appeal to the people upon a record of achievement unrivalled in political history.

The speaker outlined at great length the achievements of the Democrats in congress lauding the work of Speaker Clark and Majority Leader Underwood in the house.

Instead, he said, of a disgruntled disorganized quarreling and inefficient mob the country witnessed the welcome spectacle of a united harmonious efficient and thoroughly-organized political party whose individual members freely subordinated their personal preferences for the accomplishment of results to the great majority of the people."

Mr. Fitzgerald next took up the tariff and attacked the Republicans and President Taft, charging that the administration had blocked the Democrats when they tried to relieve the people. Mr. Fitzgerald spoke specifically of the wool and cotton bills and the farmers' free list.

DEATH OF PIUS X DENIED IN ROME

of Pope Pius this morning Cardinal Gibbons said that he had received no advices of the death or serious illness of the Pope. Through Rev. L. R. Stickney, of the archiepiscopal house clergy, the cardinal expressed himself as accepting the story very cautiously.

The stories from abroad that the announcement of death would be held up until formal notice had reached the king of Italy was stamped as highly improbable. It was stated that in case of official announcement of such an event from the Vatican that the cardinal would be one of the first informed.

News from Madrid.

London, April 11.—A rumor was current in London today that Pope Pius X had died in Rome. A despatch was received from Madrid, saying that the Pope had died suddenly. No reason could be advanced as to why the first news of the Pope's death should come from Madrid.

A later cable received from Madrid stated that the death of the Pope has been confirmed. At the time this cable was received from Madrid no confirmation had come directly from Rome.

Pope Pius has been in ill-health for several years and last August he suffered an attack of bronchial trouble which being complicated with gout and rheumatism, nearly caused his death. From that time his holiness became more and more feeble and last month the Pope sustained another attack which kept him from his state duties for some time.

The vigorous spirit of the pontiff chafed under the restraints ordered by the Vatican physicians, Doctors Guiseppe Petacci and Pilore Marchiafava and at times orders to forego all audiences were violated.

Age Is Against Him.

More than once Cardinal Merry del Val papal secretary of state has been called upon during the past year to deny rumors that the pontiff had succumbed to the ailments from which he suffered. The advanced age of the pontiff was against his ultimate recovery and his refusal to rest from the arduous duties of the Vatican in a Venetian mountain retreat has also counted against his health.

The Popes sisters have been his patient nurses and since the aged prelate's condition became dangerous they have remained constantly in Rome so as to be near the Vatican.

Recently the Pope's condition has been such that the daily walks in the Vatican gardens were curtailed because of the exertion they entailed.

Dr. Amici who has been called into consultations at the Vatican on several occasions was foremost in urging the pontiff to refrain from his great duties. To all these requests Dr. Amici said the pontiff smiled and said he always felt able to bear up under any duties which the church imposed upon him.

Labors Multiplied.

Added to the regular daily routine of the Vatican the Pope's labors were multiplied by the 1911 consistory at which the pontiff presided. At the time it was feared the pontiff would not be able to go through the manifold ceremonies but he apparently suffered no ill effects.

Up to 2 p. m. Cardinal Bourne, archbishop of Westminster, had received no news direct from Rome relative to the Pope.

Although no direct confirmation was received from the Vatican this was not regarded here as surprising in view of the usual secrecy maintained upon such events. When Pope Leo died, news of the death was not officially announced until some time after he had passed away.

Roman Catholic prelates in this city explained the fact that the despatches came from Madrid first rather than from Rome by the fact that Cardinal Merry del Val the papal secretary of state, is a Spaniard and in the event of the Pope's death would likely send the first news to his home country.

JOHN PARR HOME IS DAMAGED BY FIRE

Loss of $900 with Insurance in Sum of $700.

The home of John Parr, of east Mark street was badly damaged by fire shortly after 8 Thursday morning and much of the furniture in the house was damaged by fire and water. The fire started in the roof of the residence and is supposed to have originated from the burning of old shingles in the kitchen stove. The blaze gained rapid headway and threatened to burn the house to the ground before the department got to work.

Owing to the long line of hose which had to be laid, the new fire-engine was put to service the pressure being weak until the engine was hooked on. After hard work on the part of the firemen the blaze was extinguished. The damage will amount to about $900 with $700 in surance.

LAWYERS' FIGHT IS FOR NAUGHT

Peck Proposal Is Adopted by Convention.

JUDICIAL GEARS WELL OILED NOW

Will Expedite Court Procedure If Ratified.

Will Be Put Up to People of State Permits Only One Trial and One Appeal and Changes Circuit Courts to Courts of Appeal—Bank Deposit Guarantee Proposition Is Defeated—Delegates Busy.

Columbus, O., April 11.—In the face of bitter opposition from lawyers throughout the state the constitutional convention adopted the Peck judicial reform proposal, embodying one of the most important subjects yet taken up by it. Judge Peck of Cincinnati a retired jurist, led the laymen who put the proposal through. The proposal, if approved by the people, is expected to do away with many of "law's delays."

One trial, before either judge or jury and one review by a higher court, is the essence of the proposition. In brief the proposal leaves the present supreme court of said judges unchanged in number, changes the present circuit courts to courts of appeal and gives them final jurisdiction in all cases save felonies and those involving constitutional questions. It retains common pleas and probate courts. Reference to justices of the peace is stricken from the constitution and the legislature is thus given power to establish courts inferior to the common pleas and probate courts.

The legislature also is given power to provide that proceedings of administrative officers may be reviewed directly in state offices.

It is provided that when supreme judges divide equally on any case from the courts of appeals the division shall constitute an affirmance.

It is provided that all save one of the judges of the supreme court shall be necessary to hold a statute unconstitutional except in affirming a court of appeals which holds a law valid. In this instance only three of the judges would be necessary to knock out a law.

The supreme court is given jurisdiction to issue writs of prohibition, directing inferior courts to abstain from certain proceedings. The court is given in addition the writ of certiorari a power long possessed by the United States supreme court, by which it may take from inferior courts to itself cases of great public interest.

Courts May Be Increased.

The number of courts of appeals may be increased from eight to such number as the legislature sees fit. Their original jurisdiction shall not be different from that of the circuit courts except that they are given the writ of prohibition. Trial as in the first instance of equity cases, which they now have, is denied them. Upon weight of the evidence the judges of the courts of appeals may reverse the common pleas courts only by unanimous decisions. In case a decision upon which a court of appeals has agreed is in conflict with a decision in another circuit the judges are directed to certify the record to the supreme court for decision.

The convention adopted the Earnhart proposal to establish double liability of stockholders in state banks, the same liability as is enforced against stockholders in national banks. The proposal carried an amendment aimed at private banks, which provides that no individual or institution which is not subject to state inspection shall use the term "bank."

An effort to get through an amendment to permit the general assembly to establish some form of bank deposit guarantee failed.

COME TO MARION TO TRADE IS THE SLOGAN

Great Movement of Merchants To Draw Business

FINE OPPORTUNITY TO TRADE IN MARION

Fare Refunding Scheme Which Will Bring People to the City and Give Them the Benefit of the Big Stores of the City—What Is Offered Patrons

Come to Marion to trade is now the slogan to be used by local merchants The slogan will soon be heard for fifty miles in each direction and the people of this section will know what the First Annual Spring Trade Festival will mean to them

That the big cooperative fare refunding sale will be a great success from every point of view is attested by the character of the firms which have already united in the movement and which have agreed to refund the fares to all out of town customers during the big seven day sale

These merchants are planning to make this actually the greatest trading opportunity ever known in Marion

Special attention is called to the fare refunding feature of the big cooperative sale Under the arrangement fares are to be refunded to all out of town customers who do their shopping in Marion during this sale Persons coming to Marion from any of the other towns listed in the schedule should keep in mind this feature and be sure to get their fares refunded before leaving for home

Not only will the people coming direct from the outside towns get their fares refunded but a farmer residing near any of the places listed in the schedule will also get his fare or an amount equivalent to the price of a railroad ticket refunded to him whether he comes by team or rail A rate has also been made for the inland towns in the radius of the sale so as not to show any partiality in this respect It is the intention to offer the same inducement to every person who comes to Marion to trade during the first annual spring festival as an occasion not to be known

This of course is in addition to the many special bargains to be offered by the merchants during this big cooperative sale

Another pleasing feature of this part of the arrangement is the fact that a person is not compelled to make his purchases all at one store but he can on the contrary trade at as many different stores as he may like the only provision being that the aggregate amount of his purchases equals the sum designated in the published schedule So for instance a person coming from Upper Sandusky where the fare both ways is seventy cents and the amount to be purchased is $14 can if desired trade at fourteen different stores spending one dollar at each place and still be entitled to his fare back just the same as though he spent the whole $14 at one store The purchases however must all be made at the stores which are represented in the proposition and whose names are listed on the back of refunding slips furnished by the merchants to each customer Full instructions as to how these refunding slips are to be used will be published in the special edition of the Star containing the announcements and the special bargains of the merchants which will be issued in a few days Watch for it and get posted thoroughly on this and many other features of the big sale This edition will also tell where to trade to get real genuine bargains

The following Marion merchants have already joined in the cooperative movement for the First Annual Spring Trading Festival for which special efforts will be made and fare refunding will be made an added inducement The opening of this cooperative fare refunding sale is dated for Saturday April 20 and will run to Saturday April 27
